

The Unloved Luna Queen

Synopsis

Darcy a 17-year-old Alpha Female wants nothing more than to be loved. Being always ignored by her parents and looked down upon, the only love she ever knew was from her elder twin brother, Dylan and her best friend Lavender. She believes all her miseries will come to an end when she finds her mate.

Colton is the next in line Alpha King who wants nothing more than to take his childhood sweetheart Patrina as his chosen Queen. He doesn't want anything to do with his true mate and wishes to spend his life with the woman he loved, but everything changes when he finds his true mate on the day of his coronation ceremony and is forced to accept her as his Queen and Mate.

Stephen is the next in line Beta of the royal pack or so he thought. He has always been in love with Darcy but decided to stay away when he realised she wanted to find her true mate. Everyone's worlds come crashing down when Darcy is accused of a murder conspiracy. While proving Darcy innocent a lot from the past is revealed leaving everyone shocked. Will Darcy be able to find the love she always craved and deserved? Will Colton realise his mistake before it is too late? Will Stephen be able to move on with his life without Darcy? Follow on their journey to find out.

Darcy's POV

I woke up to the sound of my alarm ringing in my ears and groaned knowing that I have to get ready for school. I hate going to school because people look at me like I am a piece of meat or an alien from another planet. It's as if they have never seen a she-wolf in their life. I think being an Alpha's daughter does have its drawbacks.

Boys only want to date me because I'm an Alpha's daughter. But, I am not interested in dating, especially guys who are only after getting power or something else from me.

I am such an idiot, I should have introduced myself first. I am Darcy Elis Campbell daughter of Alpha Jared Campbell from the Crescent Moon pack. We are one of the strongest and the most feared pack in New York. Especially with our pack having an alliance with the royal pack, which happens to be our neighbouring pack named Royal Midnight Moon Pack.

I am not the most loved in my pack because I am not loved by my parents. So, the pack members didn't find me important enough to be loved. My father says that I am weak because I am not dominant like an Alpha is supposed to be and that I'll bring shame to his name. As for my mother, I don't even exist for her because she is always busy being the perfect Luna which doesn't include her loving me or spending time with me. The only good thing about my family that keeps me going is my brother Dylan. He loves me with all his heart and treats me like a princess. I am his princess only when he wants me to be otherwise he is very protective of me and ensures I am not troubled by anyone. He makes me feel loved and protected.

Colton's POV

I woke up as the sun rays made their way in to my room through the window making me groan at the light disturbing my sleep. I mean I only have a few days left before I am crowned as the king and I want to be able to enjoy the remaining days as best as I can. Once I become the Alpha King I am barely going to be able to sleep in late or do whatever I want. Yes, that's right, I am going to be crowned as the Alpha King soon. I am Colton Flynn Lawson the next inline Alpha King of the royal Midnight Moon pack. I am loved by everyone including my parents, family, friends and pack members. I am a part of the strongest pack in New York, we are located at the "Ferris Lake forest in Hamilton, New York". Our neighbouring pack is our biggest ally and the second largest and strongest pack in New York.

I completed my high school and then went for Alpha training that every next inline Alpha has to attend for two years and being the next inline king meant I had to work harder than the other Alpha's. I came back a few days ago after completing the training and I couldn't be happier because these two years have been the most difficult two years as I had to spend them away from my love Patrina. She is a very beautiful girl whom I have loved since my childhood and I want her to be my mate. I couldn't take over my responsibilities as the king as I had to wait for my mate. Patrina is the daughter of our pack's Beta, she is very kind, caring and strong. I want her to be my chosen queen if she doesn't turn out to be my mate.

I am still laying on my bed not willing to leave the soft mattress and comfort of the sheets wrapped around me when the door to my room flung open and my dear brother entered to disturb my time in my bed.

“God Dylan there’s something called knocking which decent people do before entering someone's room” I groaned at him and he chuckled.

“Where is the fun in that princess? I would have missed the opportunity to see the grumpy look on your face. I couldn’t afford it” he replied laughing making me roll my eyes at him.

“Now would you like to tell me what are you doing here?” I asked.

“You need to get ready or we are going to be late for school” he said smiling at me

“How can someone be happy about going to school?” I asked grumpily.

“Everyone is not as unhappy as you are about going to school. Now come on” he said laughing .

“Ugghh! Why are you so cheery about going to school?” I groaned knowing to well the reason behind his happiness.

“Princess you are the one with good grades. You do everything a good girl does except for the fact that you still hate going to school. It is going to end in a few days anyway. So, come on and get ready quickly” he replied to me with a smile.

“Fine. I will be down in about 20 minutes” I said rolling out of my bed.

Dylan came settling our food trays looking at Stephen's direction and I could feel his anger coming to surface. I immediately held his hand to keep him calm and now Stephen was standing in front of us.

"Darcy? Can I please speak to you for a moment? Alone?" as soon as the words left his mouth a loud growl erupted from my brother making people flinch at the increasing tension inside the room.

"Stephen, whatever you have to say please say it in front of them. I am not comfortable speaking to you or anyone alone" I said and another growl was heard.

This one was more powerful than the previous one, we looked at the direction of the sound to come face to face with Colton standing there looking pissed and everyone gulped but for some reason his growl didn't affect me or my wolf and even Dylan, Stephan and Lavi were unfazed by it.

"I remember making it clear that I don't want Stephen making my best friend's sister uncomfortable" he growled at Patrina who winced at the intensity of his angry growl.

"Baby, I told him to stay away, I swear" Patrina whimpered as he stared Stephen down.

"I don't know what is wrong with me approaching someone I like. I wanted to ask her out" Stephen yelled and my brother growled.

"Stephen, with all due respect, I am not interested. I don't want you or anyone for that matter, I want no one but my mate" I replied and he looked at me with sad eyes.

"Darcy, I really mean it when I say that I like you, and I am willing to do anything for you. I just want you to be my girlfriend and maybe we are mates, we will find out on your 18th birthday anyway" he said with so much hope and I felt bad for him but I can't lead him on.

"I am really sorry Stephen, but I don't want to be your girlfriend we will talk on my 18th birthday if we turn out to be mates. However, my wolf doesn't feel any connection with you right now" I answered honestly because I am not the one to give people false hope.

"But---" he started but my brother growled loudly cutting him off.

"She said doesn't want to be with you, do you not understand? I am warning you for the last time Stephen stay away from my sister and stop making her uncomfortable" he growled as Stephen bowed his head before walking out of the room. I saw Patrina looking at me with anger and what felt like hate? But I don't know why.

"You could have turned him down gently you know, you didn't have to be rude"

Patrina said as everyone's head snapped in her direction.

"Honestly, I turned him down as gently as I possible can, Patrina you are my friend and I understand that you feel bad for him because he is your brother but I couldn't have let him on when I know I don't feel anything for him. I am not the one to sugarcoat things, I speak the truth with honesty. I am sure you would have not felt any better if I had lied to him, it would have hurt him more than what he felt now"

I answered and she kept quite.

I turned my attention to food and ate everything, I drank my juice just in time to see Lavender saying bye to our parents. She grabbed her car keys with her school bag as our Mom looked at her.

"Lavi, baby are you driving to school today?" My Mom questioned and Lavi gave her a tight smile nodding her head in agreement.

"Yes Mom, I have realised today that I have grown up and I should be able to do everything for myself. So, I am starting with driving myself to school and I have also decided I am moving out after school" she replied and my mother slowly nodded her head looked at Lavi observing her silently.

"Lavi, did something happen? Why have you decided to move out of the house suddenly?" Mom asked after a few minutes and Lavi gave her a small smile.

"Nothing Mom, I realised today that I can't expect to have my privacy in this house especially when people tend to trust outsiders more than family. It's for the best that I move out, so everyone can have peace here" she replied and my mother's eyes immediately filled with tears, it's like they understood exactly what happened. Dad's face hardened and his eyes filled with so much hate and anger as he eyed Patrina, then his gaze fell on me as he looked at me with anger and disappointment.

"You are right about that baby girl" Dad said looking at Lavender with soft eyes and a tender smile on his face

"You can stay with us because we were already planning to move out after your brother's coronation. We just have to move out a little early than planned because you can't stay with people who don't value their family. The new house is ready anyway, we will move to the new house on Friday keep your things ready" he said patting Lavi's head.

"Dad, please she is making a fuss out of nothing, you can't move out of the packhouse" I said objecting their decision hoping to somehow make them stay back

"You don't get to tell me what I can or cannot do. I am still the king, I will do what I have to, to make my family and pack happy. You don't understand the importance of a family and you certainly don't value it, so you can't tell me what is right or wrong for the family. You have become blind but we are not blind, we can see the truth as clear as the day" he said looking with anger and venom at Patrina, she sobbed as tears spilled from her eyes. I feel bad for her, I held her in my arms calming her down as dad shook his head in disbelief leaving the dinning table leaving his breakfast.

"Mom, I am getting late for school. I'll see you in the evening, I love you, bye!" Lavi said kissing mom's cheek and walking towards the door.

"What happened to you princess? Why are you looking so annoyed?" I asked as she cursed under her breath and glared at me.

"Who does your girlfriend think she is? She came in to my room without my permission and took my dresses and jewellery. When I confronted her she showed me her bitchy attitude saying she is future Luna Queen and she can do whatever she wants" she looked very serious and her anger told me that it did happen. I sighed deeply feeling trapped

"Oh no! Lavender why are you making a fuss out of it and disturbing Colton? I said I was sorry you don't have to lie to him about me. I never said anything like that, baby you know I would never do that. It's just that she doesn't like me and she warned me to stay away from you" Patrina entered with tears in her eyes. I felt bad because she looked hurt and she was crying. I know Lavender doesn't like Patrina but I never thought she would do some thing as bad as lying to me. I really don't know what to do because my sister was angry and my love was crying.

"Babe, stop crying okay? You shouldn't have taken anything without her permission, I told you that before as well. If you wanted something you could have told me and I would have got that for you. Lavender you don't have to be so angry and rude all the time with her. You know I love her, you could at least try and adjust with her" I addressed them both and when I spoke with my baby sister I spoke a little more sternly than required. She looked at me with disbelief as her eyes showed hurt and they immediately welled with tears. Shit I made her cry, I mentally face palmed myself as I tried to speak with her.

"Right, it was stupid of me to expect you to believe me even after knowing that you would never go against your love. You know what I am going to adjust and I am going to move out as soon as my school is over. You don't have to do anything for me Alpha, thank you so much though for at least listening and yes you don't have to drop me off at school, I am going to drive my car, you are free from all my responsibilities" she said cutting me off as tears streamed down her eyes. I have never seen her like this ever before and I am remorseful but I know that she won't accept my apology but I still wanted to try.

"Princess, listen to me. I am really sorry, I didn't mean to--" I started and she cut me off

"Let it be, I don't need your sorry, I mean everything I said and mark my words someday you are going to regret loving and trusting a person like her" she said glaring at me and Patrina.

"I am sorry for interrupting your morning Alpha" she said turning and getting out of the room. I sighed deeply, I have never hurt my baby sister before. She always said that she doesn't like anyone touching her things and that is why she cleans her room herself. She would have never even thought of doing or saying anything like that if Patrina kept her hands to herself. I looked at her with a hard stare as she approached me while I got up to a sitting position on my bed

"Baby, I am sorry I never wanted to create any problem for you" she said looking at me sadly.

"You would have never created a problem if you didn't touch her things without her permission. You know very well she is possessive of her things, she told you last time that she would not forgive a third time" I said and she looked down at the floor.

"I am sorry" she mumbled.

"Your sorry is not going to solve the problems between me and my sister. Listen, leave me alone for a while please. Let me get ready and I will drop you off to school"

I said getting out of bed as she walked out of my bedroom closing the door behind her.
